INTERVIEW ESSAY

Recently, I had an interview with Ann. She is one of my best friends. We met five years ago, while she was walking with her dog. She loves her dog, named Fluffy, very much. This dog is special to her, because in the past she had problems with making friends. Therefore, this dog seemed to be her only true friend for some period of time. Even Ann's first job was related to dogs, because she earned her first money by walking with the neighbor's dogs. She was not making much money, however, she was pleased to have a job like that. Later, in order to connect her life with animals, Ann decided to become a vet. She adores her job, but it is not the only important thing in her life.

Ann enjoyed reading in her free time. Not long ago, her favorite pastime was to read a book, while sitting on the bench in the park. Now, the things have changed. Even though Ann still enjoys reading an interesting book, she prefers a more active way of spending her time. Her new hobby is dancing. She goes to the studio near her house almost every day. People who go to the same studio, dance all kinds of dances, depending on their mood. Each day, the group decides what kind of dance they would like to learn. The idea to try dancing as her new hobby came, as she was watching an old record of the Michael Jackson's concert. She has always admired his voice and the way he danced. Thus, she decided to learn how to dance. When she attended her first dancing lesson at the studio, she realized that she is in love with dancing.

Her favorite movie is Dance with Me, this movie always seemed very romantic and optimistic to her. Thus, she hoped that maybe one day she would meet someone special. To her surprise, on one of the lessons she did meet a special person, with whom she is very happy. In addition, he is also a vet.

Ann believes that her life guides her in the right direction, and never looks back.
